NEWS NOTES FROM THE

UNIVERSITY

By James W. Boardley, Jr.

GAINESVILLE: "Hello, pal, have a cigar. Have you heard about the new platform of this new political body? You haven't?

Well let me tell you about it. You see it's like this. We are going to do this and that and many other things. We are going to you want to vote for this party?

One-sided conversations like this are now being heard by anyone unlucky enough to be nailed by some aspiring young politician.

The political upheaval on the campus has caused a considerable amount among the bigshots who have in the past absolutely controlled the one political machine.

Now the old party has split in two, forming the University

Union Party and the Florida Student Party. Things are rather hot for the general election of student officers are only two weeks away. It is a toss-up as to the winner at present.

The General College Week End this coming week will find many students over till the spring holidays at which time the University will be the order of the day. General College students have complete charge of this social weekend and have in the past been one of the best entertainments of the year.

Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St.

Louis Cardinals, gave a very brilliant address before the student body and its friends at the close of this school year.

He spoke on "What it is that should qualify a man to be a champion on a major league ball-club," and used many illustrations which appealed to his hearers.

Richard Bester, of Cleveland, is among those speaking at the Bachelor of Science of Business Administration degree at the close of this school year.

WILD LIFE WEEK

STAMPS ON SALE

Harold Rosenberg, secretary and treasurer of the Palmetto Drainage district, yesterday announced his appointment as chairman of the Everglades district stamp sale for the business and General Wild Life Federation of the state and the United States.

The week between March 20-26 was proclaimed by President Roosevelt as a week to be devoted to the sale of stamps, funds from which would be used for the advancement and conservation of fish and game.

Mr. Rosenberg said that only 120,000 worth of stamps was sold him and that he felt that the majority of those had already been sold by Roy Rosenberg, an area working under his direction.

However, any one interested in purchasing stamps may contact him.

Thirty-five cents of each dollar collected in Florida will go to the state federation, with the remain-65 cents going to the U. S. federation.

VOTING MACHINE

SEEN BY PUBLIC

Exhibition of a voting machine, one of five which will be placed in use by the county in the coming

May 3 primary election, was fracted considerable attention and favorable comment, according to an announcement last Monday by

L. E. O'Brien, voting machine company official.

Mr. O'Brien declared that his firm would start an educational campaign in this county about April 1 to acquaint voters with the use of the apparatus.

W. M. Wainwright, state auditor, said last week that audit of the books of county officers over only 28 months had transactions be compared to an average of 30 months last year. When audits are 12 months behind actions they are considered current and he expects to reach that point soon.

State Revenue Department agents have started a drive in the Miami area against unlicensed manufacture and sale of liquor.

Fifteen were arrested in his first series of raids which department agents said will be continued.

Florida receives approximately $200,000 per year from the various federal agencies, according to the State Welfare board.

Too Late TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay.

You know, just about the time

I am ready to form the crazy idea that I know all about Florida, I usually stumble on something new feature of attraction that I never even dreamed of before and that's just what happened to me when I visited Marianna a few days ago.

If anyone had tried to tell me a month ago that there are caves and caverns in the state—that can hold their own with anything that

Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia or Colorado have to offer, I would have been a laughing stock. I wasn't even in my mind whether to call a cop or an alienist.

But after my experience at Marianna last week, here I am about ready to believe anything anyone might tell me as to the wonders, charms, beauties or advantages of Florida.

Honest, if some guy stepped up to me right now and tried to convince me that there was a mountain somewhere in Florida with a glacier running down one side and that other side was a giant trap-door for the other, I might be a bit skeptical, but I'd hesitate before I called him a liar.

Archaeological WPA workers were to uncover a mess of Egyptian pyramids or a leather skin somewhere between the Alabama line and the Florida

Strait, it wouldn't surprise me if it was the last.

But getting back to my story over in Marianna I ran into an chap named Yancy, who is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and right away he invited that let him take me out to see "the Caverns."

I said, "you're a nice guy and I like you and all that, but I can't go to no time to be running 'round the woods lookin' at nothing."

"Copher holes," he snorts, "wait 'til you see 'em!" And since he wasn't a lawyer, that I am and he had a kind of determined air about him, I figured maybe I'd better go along and avoid trouble.

Now I have visited the famous moth Cave in Kentucky; the Cave of the Winds in Colorado, and a lot of other caves in other parts of the country, but folks in this state miss of caverns up in Jackson county can hold their own with any of 'em.

Now it seems this guy Yancy is a kind of a Cave man, but in the movie wearin' a topcoat and carryin' a slab of pie for a cane but a sort of 1935 model in a business suit and carryin' a flashlight.

Well, he took me about three miles from town for a motor trip through a portion of the new

Caverns State Park, a 1400 acre reservation being developed as a national park by the Florida

State Board of Forestry and State Park Service. Among the features planned are a golf course, a naturalistic aquarium and fish hatchery and museum. Bridle paths throughout the area will be available to visitors, while excellent swimming and boating will be available.

But the big feature will be the underground caverns. The amazed visitor will be carried through a maze of passageways into four or five separate rooms or compartments, each of them with a variable fair price, with fantastic ever-changing scenes at every turn, provided by chandeliers and stalactites and stalagmites, woven in gigantic masterpieces by Mother Nature, and no one knows how long she has been at the task.

While similar in character to the caves found in other sections, those of Caverns State Park near Marianna possess many features found nowhere else and when the development in opening them to public inspection, now under way, is completed, these wonderful caverns will attract tourists and visitors from the four corners of the world.

I am deeply indebted to Tom Yancy, the Cave Man of Marianna, for his courtesy and for his kind in taking me through the Cave and Caverns, and when your kindness expires, I promise you, you'll not be disappointed.

New Canal Point Teacher Arrives

Miss Ruth Faulkenham, supply teacher with the Palm Beach county school board, who for the major part of this school year has been teaching in the Palm Beach elementary school, arrived in Canal Point Thursday afternoon to fill the vacancy created by the marriage of Miss Vivian Swindell, fourth grade teacher, this week.

Miss Faulkenham comes to this school, highly recommended by Superintendent John I. Leonard and will take her place in the classroom here Monday morning when school opens.

Miss Swindell, of Boynton, who has been teaching in Canal Point this school year, was married Monday afternoon to George Latty, retired New Yorker, who has been spending the winter season at Miami Beach.

The couple left Canal Point Thursday night for a motor trip to New York where they will make their summer home.

Mae West Film For Belle Glade Theatre On Sunday and Monday

New York in its most glittering and romantic mood—the mood of the Gray Nineties and the Nineties—driven by the period that saw "Diamond Jim" Brady, "Jubilee" and other, bon vivants at their gayest, is the playground of curvaceous Mae West in her new film comedy, "Every Day's a Holiday," at the Belle Glade theatre Sunday and Monday.

Set at the turn of the century, Mae West latest adventure is the story of a girl with a penchant for selling the Brooklyn Bridge to unsuspecting strangers, an idiosyncrasy which gets her into difficulties with the police.

Also seeking Mae West is Walter Catlett, a theatrical producer who wants her to head a new show. It then becomes necessary for Mae West to don a black wig, acquire a French accent and become "Mile Pitt" an actress who takes the town by storm.

"Mile Pitt" becomes involved in a better government crusade before the picture comes to its finale finish—an election which sweeps Lowe into office on a reform ticket.

The cast of brilliant players in "Every Day's a Holiday," includes Charles Butterworth, Charles Wainwright, famed "Cap'n Henry" of "Show Boat," Lloyd Nolan, Herman Bing, Chester Conklin, Louis Armstrong and his Orchestra and many others.

"Every Day's a Holiday" is from an original story by Miss West herself. It was directed by E. Edward Sutherland and produced by Emanuel Cohen.
